THE MAYOR TO PRESIDE

When Judge King Talks Politics Next Wednesday.

FIFTH STREET AND BROADWAY

Will Be Crowded If It Does Not Rain—How a Democrat Backed His Opinion on the County—An Enthusiastic Salvationist. Political News.

The central committee decided last night to open the campaign in this city with all the power they could command.

The meeting at city hall was well attended, and the prospect of a rousing opening caused no end of enthusiasm. As was announced exclusively in the News Review yesterday, Judge King, of Youngstown, can be here next Wednesday, and arrangements are going merrily on to give him a great reception. The meeting will be held in Broadway, near Fifth, if the weather will allow. Should it rain the crowd will be taken to the rink. Mayor Gilbert will be chairman of the meeting, and there will be a long list of leading citizens on the platform with him. A band will be in attendance, and the committee of arrangements expect to entertain a number of persons from other parts of the county. Mr. King is well known in the city. His active work before the congressional convention which nominated Hon. T. R. Morgan and his eloquent addresses favoring Republicanism will be readily remembered.

MADE A MISTAKE.

But It Was Not a Great One After All.

It is related that a well known member of the Salvation Army attended a meeting the other day. He is as earnest in his regard for Major McKinley as he is in his love for the Lord, and on this occasion mixed the two. One of his friends was giving him experience, and the Liverpool man was pleased with what he said. Then he became enthusiastic, and a desire came upon him to shout at the top of his voice "Glory to God." He followed the desire, but imagine his own surprise and the surprise of the congregation when he said instead "Hurrah for McKinley."

HE WOULDN'T BET.

A Good Republican Soon Stopped a Democratic Boast.

A prominent Democrat of the county yesterday afternoon at the corner of Sixth and Market streets, was explaining to a crowd of attentive listeners how the Democratic party would elect every county officer on their ticket with the exception of one. His remarks were overheard by a stalwart Republican, who reached in his pocket and bringing forth a roll of money, said: "I will bet you $100 to $50 that every county Republican candidate will be elected by over 2,500 majority." The Democrat shut up immediately, and the crowd laughed.

POOR SILVER

Will Never Win With the Beacon to Fight Its Battles.

The Beacon made its appearance this morning, and true to the promise made by its publishers is for free silver, but that policy will never win in East Liverpool with nothing but the Beacon to fight its battles. It insults every workman in the city, and quotes Bryan so liberally one would think it knows nothing but what the boy orator says. As a newspaper the Beacon is a pronounced failure, but as a campaign sheet without influence or following it is a glowing success.

WONDERFUL INTEREST.

The Warm Weather Has No Effect on Politics.

The Republican headquarters are being visited daily by a great many people, and considering the unusually warm weather the interest manifested in the campaign is remarkable. The roll book of McKinley voters, although open but two days, contains over 300 names. Among them are several well known Democrats who will not cast their lot with the free silver party this year.

THE MASS MEETING.

A Good Crowd Talked About the Street Fair Last Night.

The mass meeting having at heart the interests of the street fair was largely attended last night. Councilman Stewart reported that council had held over the request for the use of the streets until more could be learned of the matter, and Squire Rose made a speech. He, together with Mayor Gilbert and G. Y. Travis, were appointed a committee to explain the request to council.

W. L. Taylor explained the good to city.

be derived from a road race from Steubenville, and the project met with general approval.

The question of conducting the fair through two days was discussed, and it was the general opinion that it could not be done until more funds were raised. If the executive committee can raise $100 between now and Monday night the fair will last two days. A lantern parade may be a feature of the event.

The committee met with a committee from council this afternoon, and it was proposed to grant the desired privileges provided the association will pay for the extra police and clean up the streets.

BY ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The Eclipse Players Have Rented a Lot.

The Brunt lot at the foot of Washington street will be rented by the Eclipse football team for an evening practice ground. An arc light will be placed in the enclosure, a dressing room will be erected, and as the lot is surrounded by bill boards the team will be free from the gaze of spectators who greatly retard effective team work. Charles Alexander, quarter back of last season's Bethany team, wants to play on the Eclipse eleven, and it is probable the services of John M. Taggart, of Vanport, a former guard of Princeton, will be secured.

WANTED TO SUE.

O'Connor Believed His Time Was Valuable.

This morning when Edward F. O'Connor, the saggar man, went to load a car that had been placed on the siding for his use he discovered someone had placed two wagon loads of staves from a country saw mill in it. He immediately hunted up Constable Bertele, who turned the case over to Constable Lyon to unravel. The staves were removed, and O'Connor wanted to sue someone for $2.50 damages caused by lost time, but as the right person to sue was unknown the case was dropped.

WE HAVE A LITTLE MONEY.

The County Treasury Is Not Empty Today.

LISBON, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—The county treasury contains some money as was shown by the report of F. D. Longshore and John Way, appointed by Judge Young to make the semi-annual examination. The balance was found to be $25,915.61. This includes the claims of John R. Martin now in dispute, and a number of receipts presented since his term of office ended and charged to him. They amount to $3,059.77 leaving an actual cash balance in the treasury of $22,855.82.

MUSIC IN THE SCHOOLS.

The Committee Recommend That It Be Taught.

President McGraw, Mr. McClain and Mr. Vodyre, appointed by the board of education to arrange for the introduction of music into the schools, decided last evening that a special teacher was not needed for the work. They will recommend that each teacher be provided with a copy of "Buds and Blossoms," a little book containing a course in music. The work makes the subject very plain, and the committee think the branch can be taught from it without additional expense in the form of a music teacher.

TEN MONTHS IN BED

Cause Edward Boyle to Sue For $10,000.

LISBON, Sept. 12.—[Special.]—Edward Boyle, a miner who was for many years in the employ of the Big Vein company at Salineville has sued for $10,000. Last November his leg was broken, his back sprained and his body crushed by a fall of slate in the mine, and he has since been unable to leave his bed. He will never be able to work again, and thinks the company should recompense him because the mine boss failed to provide him with the props required to make his room in the mine a safe place.

HE MEANS IT.

Chief Morley Wants Street Fires Put Out.

Chief Morley desires to have it understood that the burning of waste paper or any other kind of refuse in the street is against the law, and must cease. He believes that any number of mysterious fires can be traced to sparks from these small blazes. He gives warning that the department will enforce the ordinance, and asks that all good citizens give him all possible aid.

Gave Them Flagg.

A number of Junior Mechanics are today attending a double flag presentation by Diamond council, Wellsville, to the school houses on the McDonald and Smith farms a few miles from that city.

FRIENDLESS AND ALONE

Veteran Charles Lowmiller Is Walking Home.

HOKE SMITH TOOK HIS PENSION

And Now the Old Man Has No Money For Railroad Fares—He Has Been East to See His Old Comrades, and Is Going to Dayton.

Charles Lowmiller, a veteran of the late war, was in town this morning having walked the entire distance from Philadelphia.

The old soldier sat in the Diamond, and was not long in making friends. To a newspaper man he told an interesting story. When the war broke out he enlisted in the One Hundred and Forty-third, Pennsylvania, and went to the front. He was a good soldier, but was compelled to leave the army because of wounds received in battle. Thirteen years ago Lowmiller was admitted to the soldiers' home at Dayton, and got along very well. Like all other inmates he was compelled to leave his bed every morning at 5 o'clock, get breakfast an hour later, and was allowed to go to town if he obeyed the rules. He liked the life, but three months ago decided he would like to see some of the comrades who went with him through the war. He secured a leave, and went to Philadelphia, the city where he enlisted, and spent a few months very pleasantly. When the time came for him to start home he found he was without money, but that had little effect on the old soldier. If he could not ride he could walk, and walk he did. Last night he reached a point within eight miles of this city, spent the night there, and walked to town for breakfast. The only thing he thought necessary for his welfare was a good rest, and a Grand Army man who heard his story at once arranged for a place where he would sleep peacefully to-night. Three years ago he was being paid a pension of $4 a month, but Hoke Smith cast his eyes in that direction, and the old man who had fought and suffered for his country was deprived of what little he had. Now he has no money, and must depend on what the government allows in clothes and food after he reaches the home. He is very cheerful, and in spite of his 73 years proposes to walk the remainder of the distance to Dayton. He wants again to sleep in what he believes to be the best beds on earth, and drill once more, without arms, before a visit of the management of the institution.

TWO COPPERHEADS.

They Were Entirely Too Close to an East Liverpool Lady.

An East Liverpool lady was visiting in Jefferson county this week where she had an experience she will never forget. She was in the country, and stepped into a building near the house. A mirror rested against the wall, and when near it she imagined she heard a noise. Anxious to know what was there the lady moved the glass, and was horrified to find a pair of copperheads twined about each other. It is not recorded that she screamed, but she ran into the house, and gave the alarm. They are accustomed to copperheads in that part of the world, and the man of the house quietly got his gun and killed them.

STILL AT IT.

Promoters of the Naval Reserve Continue to Work.

Although it will be more than a year before the state legislature will deal with the question of a naval reserve, parties interested in the scheme have already started to work. It was learned today that the movement will be supported in every part of the state particularly in those river and lake towns where branches will be located. A vast amount of information will be collected from states where the system is in operation, and an organization for that purpose may be effected.

PARALYSIS

Attacks Miss Demerling While She Is at Work.

Miss Demerling, a girl employed in the biscuit warehouse of the china works, was stricken with a slight attack of paralysis yesterday afternoon. Miss Demerling was engaged in her duties; when her arm suddenly fell useless at her side and became numb. The lady was taken home, and is a little better today.

IT LOOKS WELL.

The Public Library Is Well Fitted Out.

A glance at the rooms occupied by the new library shows that the committee

have done all in their power to make it an attractive place. The place is well fitted out, and the books so arranged as to be easily obtained. The committee have arranged to have daily papers and the best magazines on the tables, and comfortable chairs will be provided for those who visit the place. The books on the shelves shows excellent judgment, and for a small library is an exceptionally good selection.

THE HANDLE FELL

And Charley Danberg Has a Very Sore Foot.

Charles Danberg, secretary of the committee having in charge the public library, was the victim of a painful accident at the Specialty this morning. A number of employees were setting pots, and Danberg, with others, was hauling a large truck. The handle is very heavy, and when the others let go their hold, the secretary did not move as fast as the occasion demanded. The handle hit him on the foot and mashed it so that he was unable to go alone to his boarding house on Monroe street.

ASKING IMPROVEMENTS.

Mayor Gilbert Wants a New Private Office.

Police committee of council will soon meet to consider the advisability of a few changes at city hall. Mayor Gilbert has requested that the room on the first floor now used for court purposes be enlarged. This could be done by simply moving the partition, and the mayor thinks he could utilize the small room for a private office. With the additional space the mayor would not be handicapped, as he is at present, by the crowds that gather to hear the trial of every important case.

TO ELECT A PASTOR.

The Church of Christ Congregation Will Meet Tomorrow.

The resignation of Rev. C. W. Haffer has made it necessary for the congregation of the Church of Christ to elect another pastor, and all the members are expected to attend service tomorrow morning. The gentlemen will be chosen at that time. Members of the church have a number of excellent ministers in mind, but no one is saying who will get the place. Reverend Wharton, of Hiram college, is believed to have the most friends in the congregation.

AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Association Directors and Secretary Pierce Reached a Conclusion.

The directors of the Young Men's Christian association and State Secretary Pierce held a very important conference yesterday afternoon, although no business was transacted. Mr. Kling, a gentleman who has had wide experience in association work, will be sent to the city early in October to assist the directors in their canvass for funds. The new building was discussed, and if possible it will be opened next month with the anniversary meeting.

NO SPECIAL TAXES.

The Supreme Court Takes the Side of Commercial Travelers.

Justice Bradley, of the United States supreme court, has rendered a decision that will interest the many commercial travelers who go out into the world from this city. He holds that agents or traveling salesmen are exempt from all special state, county and town taxes, and that all laws providing for such taxation are unconstitutional. Commercial travelers will at once take steps through their various organizations to notify all salesmen of the decision.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Mrs. Jacob Poe Was Run Down by a Wheel.

Mrs. Jacob Poe, an aged resident of Georgetown, was last night run down by a bicycle and badly hurt. The lady was walking in the street unconscious of danger when she was struck by a wheel ridden by a woman. Her injuries are painful, but not believed at this time to be dangerous. Mrs. Poe is the widow of Captain Poe, who was once among the wealthiest men on the river, and is well known here.

MAKING MOULDS.

They Are Being Prepared For the New Sebring Plant.

Joseph Hulme will have charge of the mould shop of the new Sebring pottery to be built in East Palestine. At present Mr. Hulme is engaged in making moulds for the plant, and will have everything in readiness in this department by the time the factory is finished. The new shapes to be manufactured are of the latest design, and calculated to catch the trade.

Hancock Owns It All.

Thomas Hancock is now the sole owner of the Enterprise art concern, having purchased the interests of those who owned stock in the company.

SHOT IN THE STREET

Edward Oschman Scared the People of Salineville.

HE HAD BOUGHT A REVOLVER

And Being Away on a Pleasure Trip Was Trying It—Arrested and Fined—His Father Allowed Him to Stay in Jail a Few Days.

Edward Oschman has had another experience, and spent a few days in jail in consequence.

He decided last Wednesday evening that the air of the valley was not good for his health, and in the hope of improving his physical condition concluded to take a journey. With $6.75 in his pocket he boarded a car for Wellsville, and catching a freight train in the yards beat his way to Salineville. There he left the train, and started out to make a reputation. He purchased a revolver with a portion of his money, and decided upon the two prominent streets of the village as the most available battle ground. His experience as a terror did not last long, for the marshal soon had him under arrest for shooting within the corporate limits. The mayor of Salineville is a personal friend of Ferdinand Oschman, and the latter was greatly surprised when he left the train the next morning to learn his son was there in jail. The boy had been fined $5 and costs, and not having the money in his pocket was being held. Mr. Oschman went to see his son, and after the visit was over told the mayor to keep the boy for a time as he believed it would do him good. The father believes his son is receiving a merited lesson. Fortunately no one was hurt when young Oschman was shooting in the street.

THE SHOWMAN KICKED.

He Did Not Want to Pay For Water.

When Clerk Gipner, of the water works, called on the treasurer of the circus which exhibited here yesterday to pay $1 for the water the show people used he became indignant, and refused to pay the amount. He claimed they had watered their stock from the trough on Broadway, and were using water from the pump with which to cook. It was known, however, that the cooking water was being obtained from a hydrant, and as the ordinance is very explicit in regard to the watering trough and for what purpose it is intended information was made before Squire Morley, and the man paid the money. He should consider himself lucky. Had the justice so desired he could have fined him heavily.

ISSUING INVITATIONS.

A Brave Infantry Company Will Meet Here In October.

Invitations will on Monday be sent to the 60 surviving members of Company C, One Hundred and Fourth Ohio infantry for the reunion to be held in the Ferguson & Hill building, Oct. 15. The company was recruited in St. Clair, Elk-run and other townships in that part of the county, but a number of the veterans now live in the city. They saw very active service for over three years, and were in battle two weeks after they left home. The reunion will be made an important event in the history of the organization.

MARCHING ON MONDAY.

The Soldier Boys Will Drill on the Streets In the Evening.

Company E will drill on the streets next Monday evening, Captain Hill having arranged to have the drum corps present. The principal business deals with the preliminary arrangements for the proposed trip to Washington. The boys believe Major McKinley will be elected, and each is anxious to attend the inauguration. Their camp pay was donated for this purpose, but it is not enough to cover expenses and the meeting will arrange ways and means to make up the difference.

ONLY A FEW

Are Being Cared For by the Poor Authorities.

Business at the office of the township trustees is better at the present time than it has been for several months, as only three or four families are receiving aid, and they are not being given more than is absolutely necessary. People who bid fair to become permanent applicants are at once given the choice of keeping themselves or going to the county infirmary, and the result is noticeable at the office.

—Miss Anna Thompson, of Salineville, is the guest of Mrs. R. T. Robbins, Sheridan avenue.

IT LOOKS WELL.

The Public Library Is Well Fitted Out.

A glance at the rooms occupied by the new library shows that the committee

have done all in their power to make it an attractive place. The place is well fitted out, and the books so arranged as to be easily obtained. The committee have arranged to have daily papers and the best magazines on the tables, and comfortable chairs will be provided for those who visit the place. The books on the shelves shows excellent judgment, and for a small library is an exceptionally good selection.

THE HANDLE FELL

And Charley Danberg Has a Very Sore Foot.

Charles Danberg, secretary of the committee having in charge the public library, was the victim of a painful accident at the Specialty this morning. A number of employees were setting pots, and Danberg, with others, was hauling a large truck. The handle is very heavy, and when the others let go their hold, the secretary did not move as fast as the occasion demanded. The handle hit him on the foot and mashed it so that he was unable to go alone to his boarding house on Monroe street.

Mayor Gilbert Wants a New Private Office.

Police committee of council will soon meet to consider the advisability of a few changes at city hall. Mayor Gilbert has requested that the room on the first floor now used for court purposes be enlarged. This could be done by simply moving the partition, and the mayor thinks he could utilize the small room for a private office. With the additional space the mayor would not be handicapped, as he is at present, by the crowds that gather to hear the trial of every important case.

TO ELECT A PASTOR.

The Church of Christ Congregation Will Meet Tomorrow.

The resignation of Rev. C. W. Huffer has made it necessary for the congregation of the Church of Christ to elect another pastor, and all the members are expected to attend service tomorrow morning. The gentlemen will be chosen at that time. Members of the church have a number of excellent ministers in mind, but no one is saying who will get the place. Reverend Wharton, of Hiram college, is believed to have the most friends in the congregation.

AN IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Association Directors and Secretary Pierce Reached a Conclusion.

The directors of the Young Men's Christian association and State Secretary Pierce held a very important conference yesterday afternoon, although no business was transacted. Mr. Kling, a gentleman who has had wide experience in association work, will be sent to the city early in October to assist the directors in their canvass for funds. The new building was discussed, and if possible it will be opened next month with the anniversary meeting.

NO SPECIAL TAXES.

The Supreme Court Takes the Side of Commercial Travelers.

Justice Bradley, of the United States supreme court, has rendered a decision that will interest the many commercial travelers who go out into the world from this city. He holds that agents or traveling salesmen are exempt from all special state, county and town taxes, and that all laws providing for such taxation are unconstitutional. Commercial travelers will at once take steps through their various organizations to notify all salesmen of the decision.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Mrs. Jacob Poe Was Run Down by a Wheel.

Mrs. Jacob Poe, an aged resident of Georgetown, was last night run down by a bicycle and badly hurt. The lady was walking in the street unconscious of danger when she was struck by a wheel ridden by a woman. Her injuries are painful, but not believed at this time to be dangerous. Mrs. Poe is the widow of Captain Poe, who was once among the wealthiest men on the river, and is well known here.

MAKING MOULDS.

They Are Being Prepared For the New Sebring Plant.

Joseph Hulme will have charge of the mould shop of the new Sebring pottery to be built in East Palestine. At present Mr. Hulme is engaged in making moulds for the plant, and will have everything in readiness in this department by the time the factory is finished. The new shapes to be manufactured are of the latest design, and calculated to catch the trade.

Hancock Owns It All.

Thomas Hancock is now the sole owner of the Enterprise art concern, having purchased the interests of those who owned stock in the company.

SHOT IN THE STREET

Edward Oschman Scared the People of Salineville.

HE HAD BOUGHT A REVOLVER

And Being Away on a Pleasure Trip Was Trying It—Arrested and Fined—His Father Allowed Him to Stay in Jail a Few Days.

Edward Oschman has had another experience, and spent a few days in jail in consequence.

He decided last Wednesday evening that the air of the valley was not good for his health, and in the hope of improving his physical condition concluded to take a journey. With $6.75 in his pocket he boarded a car for Wellsville, and catching a freight train in the yards beat his way to Salineville. There he left the train, and started out to make a reputation. He purchased a revolver with a portion of his money, and decided upon the two prominent streets of the village as the most available battle ground. His experience as a terror did not last long, for the marshal soon had him under arrest for shooting within the corporate limits. The mayor of Salineville is a personal friend of Ferdinand Oschman, and the latter was greatly surprised when he left the train the next morning to learn his son was there in jail. The boy had been fined $3 and costs, and not having the money in his pocket was being held. Mr. Oschman went to see his son, and after the visit was over told the mayor to keep the boy for a time as he believed it would do him good. The father believes his son is receiving a merited lesson. Fortunately no one was hurt when young Oschman was shooting in the street.

THE SHOWMAN KICKED.

He Did Not Want to Pay For Water.

When Clerk Gipner, of the water works, called on the treasurer of the circus which exhibited here yesterday to pay $1 for the water the show people used he became indignant, and refused to pay the amount. He claimed they had watered their stock from the trough on Broadway, and were using water from the pump with which to cook. It was known, however, that the cooking water was being obtained from a hydrant, and as the ordinance is very explicit in regard to the watering trough and for what purpose it is intended information was made before Squire Morley, and the man paid the money. He should consider himself lucky. Had the justice so desired he could have fined him heavily.

ISSUING INVITATIONS.

A Brave Infantry Company Will Meet Here In October.

Invitations will on Monday be sent to the 60 surviving members of Company C, One Hundred and Fourth Ohio infantry for the reunion to be held in the Ferguson & Hill building, Oct. 15. The company was recruited in St. Clair, Elkhart and other townships in that part of the county, but a number of the veterans now live in the city. They saw very active service for over three years, and were in battle two weeks after they left home. The reunion will be made an important event in the history of the organization.

MARCHING ON MONDAY.

The Soldier Boys Will Drill on the Streets In the Evening.

Company E will drill on the streets next Monday evening, Captain Hill having arranged to have the drum corps present. The principal business deals with the preliminary arrangements for the proposed trip to Washington. The boys believe Major McKinley will be elected, and each is anxious to attend the inauguration. Their camp pay was donated for this purpose, but it is not enough to cover expenses and the meeting will arrange ways and means to make up the difference.

ONLY A FEW

Are Being Cared For by the Poor Authorities.

Business at the office of the township trustees is better at the present time than it has been for several months, as only three or four families are receiving aid, and they are not being given more than is absolutely necessary. People who bid fair to become permanent applicants are at once given the choice of keeping themselves or going to the county infirmary, and the result is noticeable at the office.

—Miss Anna Thompson, of Salineville, is the guest of Mrs. R. T. Robbins, Sheridan avenue.

HAVING used all the arguments for free silver until thread bare and worn they are no longer of any use, the friends of Candidate Bryan are now blaming all the trouble between capital and labor on Mark Hanna. Yes, this is campaign of education.

The Salem Herald should hide its face in shame. Not content with the average rot in favor of free silver it is now devoting space to prayers, parodies upon the Lord's prayer, sacrilegious screeds which, for the sake of common decency, should never find a place in a newspaper.

SHUN BRYAN.

Candidate Bryan should not receive a vote in East Liverpool. He does not deserve an iota of support from the potters and those business men who depend solely upon the pottery industry for existence. When in congress he never lost an opportunity to strike at the farmers and workmen of the country, and his hatred for anything resembling a protective duty was so pronounced as to make him obnoxious. Hear this sentiment uttered by Bryan when he was a member of the house of representatives:

"I consider it as false in economy, and vicious in policy, to attempt to raise at a high price in this country that which we can purchase abroad at a low price."

What do the people of this protected community think of that utterance? What would be the result in East Liverpool if Bryan's views once became operative? The boy orator, inexperienced and unknown, declared himself on that day an enemy of the people. He arrayed himself on the side of those English magnates whom he pretends to hate with a bitter hatred. He declared at that time, although he feared to put it in as many words, that he favored the closing of every pottery in the land. He would have every potter deprived of employment, and compelled to leave the country of his birth or adoption for the low priced shops and factories of England. Bryan would depopulate such towns as this, cause their streets to grow up in weeds, and send their business men to some other part of the world. He does not believe in any form of protection. It has no merit in his view. Nothing good can come from the populous, enterprising communities created and supported by protection, according to his idea. The good wages paid under the McKinley law were to him an awful thing. Taken as a whole, the utterances of Mr. Bryan can produce no conclusion other than that he bears a strong dislike to protection and anything protected. Therefore, is there any excuse for the East Liverpool man who will support Bryan, and at once vote to take the bread from his own mouth?

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Better Prospects and Higher Prices This Fall.

BANK FAILURES RETARD BUSINESS.

Prices Are Very Low—Corn and Oats Not Profitable to Sell—Wool Sales Increased—Iron Business Not Improving. Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says: Better prospects and relief from monetary anxiety do not yet bring larger demands for finished products, though large buying of pig iron, wool, leather, hides, cotton and other materials continue to show a growing belief that a general upward movement in prices will come with the replenishment of dealers' stocks this fall. Most prices are extremely low, so that nothing more than ordinary demand would advance them.

Bank failures at New Orleans cause temporary hesitation, crop returns indicate disappointment in some cotton and some spring wheat states, prices of corn and oats make it unprofitable to sell at present, the number of manufacturing works and mines in operation does not gain, but rather decreases, reductions of wages are somewhat numerous, occasionally resisted by strikes, and all these conditions diminish for a time the buying power of the people. While many think general improvement cannot come until the election has removed political uncertainties, others expect soon to see the result anticipated in trade.

Weekly output of pig iron decreased 26,578 tons in August to 130,500 tons against 217,300 tons in November, a shrinkage of 40 per cent. Other works still have stopped since September began. Unsold stocks increased 62,067 tons in August, exclusive of those accumulating in the hands of great steel companies. Strictly not half the iron making or iron working capacity is now employed, and the demand for finished products does not grow, but heavy speculative purchases of pig, especially from southern works, have sustained prices.

The output of Connellsville coke was 65,997 tons weekly, against 166,000 Oct. 6 last year, and 5,640 ovens are at work against 13,511 then, with 10,000 workers now idle.

Sales of wool for the week have about equaled the normal consumption, for the first time in several months, not because manufacturers have more orders or are doing more work, for no gain is seen in the demand or output. The buying is still speculative, based on the belief that prices must advance.

Wheat declined 1 cent, but then advanced, closing 1 cent up for the week. Western receipts still exceed last year's, having been, in two weeks, 11,329,085 bushels, against 10,323,288 bushels last year, while Atlantic exports, flour included, have been, for the same weeks, 3,933,365 bushels, against 2,417,872 bushels last year.

Corn is almost wholly out of danger, and the yield is generally expected to be the largest, as the price here is the lowest ever known.

Failures for the week have been 315 in the United States, against 187 last year, and 47 in Canada, against 34 last year.

INSTRUCTS TURKISH LEGATION.

A Telegram Received In Regard to Sending Strangers Back Home.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Turkish legation has received from the sublime porte the following telegram:

"The imperial government, wishing to secure public order at Constantinople, has decided to send back to their native places all individuals with no occupation who come from the provinces. As these individuals, however, may attempt to return to the capital, the sublime porte has transmitted to the authorities of provinces express orders to increase their vigilance and to prevent said return. Besides commissioners, composed of delegates from the departments of war, interior and police, will be sent to the ports, where the individuals in question will be landed."

These commissioners will have to supervise the workings of the police at these ports and to establish the identity of all persons arriving, as well as to examine their permits to travel. As it is possible that among the persons sent back to their native places, there are anarchists who there would try to commit crime and use bombs and dynamite. The imperial authorities were ordered to examine minutely all merchandise arriving at the ports as the provisions belonging to the drugstores, to watch the signs of and class of people and to take all necessary measures tending to preserve the public peace and to counteract the seditious proceeding of the disturbers. The proper steps have also been taken to prevent the entering into the empire of all emissaries of the Armenian revolutionary committee established in Bulgaria and abroad."

FREE TURNPIKES BY FORCE.

A Kentucky Mob on Horseback Destroy Ten Tollgates.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—A special from Lawrence, Ky., says: A mob of 125 men on horseback, near Tatham Springs, Washington county, Ky., has destroyed ten tollgate tollgates and admonished the tollgate keepers that the next step would be to lynch them if they attempted to collect toll hereafter.

This is only a part of an uprising in this part of the state in favor of free turnpikes.

To Consider the Rate War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Officials of the Southern railway have been notified by Commissioner H. S. Haines, of the Southern States' Freight association, that a meeting of all the roads of the association will be held in Atlanta on Sept. 15, to consider the questions growing out of the rate war.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The treasury has lost $60,100 in gold coin and $24,000 in bars, which leaves the true amount of the gold reserve $108,019,708.

THE NILE CAMPAIGN.

The British Have at Last Overcome the Many Difficulties.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 12.—Dispatches just received from the front say that the North Staffordshire regiment, numbering about 900 men, has arrived at Koshcamp, the southernmost fortified post on the Nile, and will be pushed forward to Absarrat. The third brigade has reached Absarrat safely and the main body of cavalry is arriving here.

The cavalry scouts report the Derwishes still in view south of Dugloo, but the enemy retreats at the slightest sign of a forward movement. The Anglo-Egyptian scouts, feeling the way for the advance guard, are steadily pushing on to Kasbar, 14 miles further south, which will be the next place occupied.

Dugloo, hitherto held by a small force of cavalry, is being fortified and added to the string of depots connecting the expedition with Wady-Halfa, the real base of supplies.

Thus, the advance of the British-Egyptian expedition up the river Nile, with Dongola, if not Kartoum, as its objective point, is now in full swing, after months of struggling with terrific heat and cholera, during which the work of building and passing gunboats in sections up the river, and over the cataracts has been carried on incessantly under the direction of British officers, a number of whom have already given up their lives as a sacrifice to the task.

The operations began in march last when troops were hurried up the Nile to Wady-Halfa, the southernmost post, although the railroad ran to Sarra, about 40 miles south from Wady-Halfa. Since that time the railroad, a desert campaign line, has been extended to Akasheh, 50 miles, from the latter place to Kosheh, and thence to Absarrat, about 75 miles.

In the first seven days of the campaign over 4,000 men in every way fully equipped, were moved southward, in spite of the great difficulties of transportation, and now some 15,000 men, not including natives employed in the transport service, are moving south with a flotilla of about 15 steam-wheel gunboats, some of them towing over 200 other boats and barges loaded with supplies, ammunition, etc.

This fleet will be kept in constant communication with Absarrat, now the base from which the army is operating. At every station between Absarrat and Wady-Halfa hospitals for the care of the wounded and sick have been established. The sirdar, or commander of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition, Sir Herbert H. Kitchener, has left nothing untried to promote the success of the campaign against the sultan of the Soudan, Abdullah El Taishah, otherwise Abdullah El Khalife, who claims to be the successor of the famous Mahdi, who caused the British so much trouble years ago.

The general upon whom the Khalifa relies to defeat the Anglo-Egyptian troops is the famous Osman Digna, a thoroughly tried and able warrior, who was the great Mahdi's trusted lieutenant and who was with the latter in all his campaigns. He has been almost constantly in the saddle for about 12 years and is a commander thoroughly respected by the British.

A Baptist Minister Dead.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—Rev. Joseph Emery, aged 80 years, who has been engaged in missionary work as a Baptist for 40 years, has died. He was the author of several works, and was of late years in charge of the mission work in this city, working without salary.

A Meeting In Favor of Cubans.

GENOA, Sept. 12.—A meeting in favor of the Cuban insurgents has been held here at which two of the speakers were arrested for inciting the people to a demonstration against the members of the Spanish press, who were present to witness the launch of a Spanish warship.

THE EASTERN ROADS NOW.

Tickets to the G. A. R. Encampment Still Causing Trouble.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The eastern roads are now having their share of trouble over the G. A. R. tickets, and it bids fair to be a more serious condition of affairs than any of the western roads have been compelled to meet. The offices of the brokers in this city are loaded down with the return portion of tickets from St. Paul and no pretense is made that all of them have been properly executed by the joint agent at St. Paul. The roads, some of them, are not moreover very particular as to whether the tickets have been properly executed, and are honoring them without asking questions when the tickets are presented for passage.

Besides these tickets the brokers have large quantities of the G. A. R. tickets that have never been near St. Paul, and the charge is greatly made that they have been supplied direct by the agents of the roads. Charges and counter charges have been flying back and forth and there seems to be every chance of a big fuss over the matter before it is finally adjusted.

Western roads have at last agreed to make a reduced rate for congressional conventions during the present campaign. They have repeatedly refused to make a low rate for these conventions.

THE LITTLE TRAGEDY.

More Mysterious Every Day—Frantz Held Without Bail.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 12.—The case of Albert Frantz, charged with the betrayal and murder of Bessie Little is developing into one of the most mysterious crimes on record. Chief of Police Ferrell has ascertained where and when Frantz bought the revolver that was used, and now he is hunting the weapon Frantz threw into Stillwater river with Bessie Little's body, so as to identify it as the one Frantz bought. Oliver Graham of Cincinnati has been at work here searching the bottom of the river where Frantz, his own confession, threw the body from the bridge. Hundreds of people line the banks of the river and the excitement increases daily.

Meantime Frantz sticks to his original story that Bessie Little shot herself while they were out riding and in his fright he threw her body in the river. He confesses that he threw the revolver in the river and says it did not belong to him. If the weapon is found and identified by Ferrell's man then Frantz will have a complete chain of evidence against him. Frantz was arraigned, plead not guilty, and his case was continued without bail.

ANOTHER BANK CLOSES.

The Bank of Commerce of New Orleans Falls.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—The Bank of Commerce, which everybody thought would be able to weather the wave of distrust and suspicion which the recent wreck of the American National bank had caused, has been compelled to close its doors. President Nichols issued the following statement:

"The unprecedented run on the bank for the past six weeks and the impossibility of realizing with sufficient rapidity on the assets, and, after consulting with the vice presidents of the clearing house and submitting a statement to them, we deemed it advisable, in order to protect the interests of depositors so that they might be paid in full in a short while, as well as the stockholders, to take this step of liquidating—a step which none feel more than we do."

The bank owes depositors between $300,000 and $400,000, while the assets of the bank are about $800,000. The bank had quite a long list of small depositors.

There was a lively run on the People's bank. The officials of that bank do not seem to be worried over the run and all checks for $100 or under being rapidly cashed.

TWO CASHIERS ARRESTED.

Men Who Handled Money in the Union Bank Under Suspicion.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—Frank B. Lee and Louis Colombe, bookkeepers in the Union National bank, have been arrested today by a United States deputy marshal. Colombe was taken into custody, as he was too sick to leave his home. He is under arrest, however, at his house. Lee was arraigned and held in $10,000 bonds for a hearing. His bond was immediately signed.

The charge is falsifying accounts. Two sets of books were kept. The arrests were made in order to hold the men pending a further investigation. The total defalcation so far discovered amounts to over $490,000.

THE TRADES' CONGRESS.

They Decide to Send Two Delegates to the United States.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 12.—At the session of the British Trades' union congress it was decided to send two delegates to the American labor congress, and it was also resolved that the British Trades' union congress meet in Birmingham in 1897.

A resolution was adopted expressing the opinion that the railway servants in the interest of themselves and of the traveling public should not be employed continuously for more than eight hours nor for more than 48 hours in any one week; also, that their conditions of hiring which compels them to give their whole time to the service of the company employing them without any guarantee of a week's wages, is inequitable and unjust.

Entitled to Wear Service In War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The secretary of war has announced a general order that the campaign against the Apaches in Arizona, 1885 to 1886, and against the Sioux in South Dakota, November, 1890, to January, 1891, were of sufficient magnitude to entitle enlisted men who served therein to wear the "service in war" chevron.

Want Substitute Carriers.

GRAND RAPIDS, Sept. 12.—The letter carriers have directed their chairman to appoint a committee of five to visit the postmaster general in the interest of substitute carriers. The convention selected San Francisco as the convention city for 1897.

ANCIENT SALIC LAW.

IT PREVENTS WOMEN FROM BEING QUEENS IN SOME COUNTRIES.

No Other Law Has Caused So Much Bloodshed—Through This Code the Kingdom of Hanover Lost Its Independence and Was Absorbed by Prussia.

A relic of prehistoric barbarism, of times when women were regarded as soulless beings but one remove superior to the brute creation, is that Salic law which debar the fair sex from all rights of succession to most of the thrones of Europe. No one knows with any degree of certainty the origin of this law, although many theories and arguments have been advanced regarding it, yet there is no law that has been the cause of so much bloodshed and desolation throughout the last 800 years.

Nearly all the historic wars that have taken place in Europe since the days of the first crusade may be attributed to the existence of this law, and even in the present century sanguinary struggles have taken place on its account. Great Britain and Russia are the only two countries where it has never secured any foothold.

Spain, Portugal and Holland have within the last 100 years erased the law from their statute books, and have benefited by the change, while since the reign of Maria Theresa and the seven years' war it exists only in a modified form in Austria, and, perhaps, not at all in the kingdom of Hungary.

But it is still in force in Denmark, in Sweden, in Prussia and all the other federal states of the German empire, as well as in Belgium, Italy, Roumania, Servia, Bulgaria and Greece, the national constitution of which, being of a more mushroom character and drawn up by enlightened statesmen of the present century, might reasonably be expected to be more up to date and free from such narrow medieval prejudices and doctrines.

It is precisely in the three countries which are now ruled by women—England, Holland and Spain—that the greatest degree of peace and prosperity prevails, the three royal widows displaying far more common sense, enlightened statesmanship and political sagacity than any of their brother monarchs.

Under the circumstances it must be a matter of regret that the Salic law should debar a number of beautiful, charming and clever princesses from succeeding to thrones. Thus there is the pretty Princess Pauline of Wurtemberg, the only child of the present king and a young girl whom it is no exaggeration to describe as the national idol.

Yet, notwithstanding the fact that all the affection of the people is centered in her, she is compelled by the Salic law to stand aside and to permit her father's crown to descend to a distant cousin, born and bred not in Wurtemberg, but in Austria, and who, in addition to being regarded as a foreigner, has the supreme disadvantage, in the eyes of the Lutherans and Protestants, constituting the vast majority of the nation, of being a Catholic.

Although King Oscar of Norway is one of the most enlightened and accomplished of man, endowed with a character that can only be described as unblemished, he has not proved a successful ruler.

The fact is that the king, in spite of all his talents and his perfections, moral and otherwise, is entirely wanting in that personal magnetism, and, if I may be permitted to coin the expression, that public tact which distinguished his homely, genial and by no means so intellectual brother, King Charles XV.

The latter had only one daughter, Princess Louisa, who inherited his qualities, and who, in spite of her plainness, was just as much the idol of both the Norwegians and Swedes as Princess Pauline of Wurtemberg is at Stuttgart. Over six feet high, and far from being endowed with intellect above the average, she possesses the best temper in the world and an inexhaustible fund of merriment and good humor, and a heart as big as her laugh, which has been compared to that of a horse.

Had she been permitted to succeed her father as queen regent of Sweden and Norway it is doubtful whether the present conflict in the sister kingdom would ever have arrived at the acute stage, and certainly the loyalty to the throne on both sides of the border would not have reached its present low ebb. But, being debarred from her father's throne by the Salic law, she married the crown prince of Denmark, carrying out of the country of her birth all the vast wealth which she had inherited, partly from her father, and partly, too, from her Dutch granduncle, which is estimated at $5,000,000.

It is to the Salic law that the kingdom of Hanover is indebted for the loss of its independence and for its absorption by Prussia, with all the disadvantages which that entails, economic, political and social. Had Queen Victoria not been barred by this statute from succeeding to the throne of Hanover at the time when she ascended that of Great Britain there is no doubt that Hanover would have been enjoying at the present moment the same commercial prosperity and manifold advantages which have fallen to the lot of the English since the beginning of the Victorian era.

But instead the Salic law made necessary the separation of the crown of Hanover from that of England, and it pushed in 1837, not to Victoria, but to the Duke of Cumberland. His very first act on succeeding to the throne was to repeal the grant of all the popular liberties conceded by his younger brother, the Duke of Cambridge, who had been acting as viceroy, and until 1836 Hanover, although free from the obligation of compulsory military service and unhampered by any Prussian restrictions upon trade, remained a hotbed of feudalism and one of the most retrograde states in Europe.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HAVING used all the arguments for free silver until thread bare and worn they are no longer of any use, the friends of Candidate Bryan are now blaming all the trouble between capital and labor on Mark Hanna. Yes, this is campaign of education.

The Salem Herald should hide its face in shame. Not content with the average rot in favor of free silver it is now devoting space to prayers, parodies upon the Lord's prayer, sacrilegious screeds which, for the sake of common decency, should never find a place in a newspaper.

SHUN BRYAN.

Candidate Bryan should not receive a vote in East Liverpool. He does not deserve an iota of support from the potters and those business men who depend solely upon the pottery industry for existence. When in congress he never lost an opportunity to strike at the farmers and workmen of the country, and his hatred for anything resembling a protective duty was so pronounced as to make him obnoxious. Hear this sentiment uttered by Bryan when he was a member of the house of representatives:

"I consider it as false in economy, and vicious in policy, to attempt to raise at a high price in this country that which we can purchase abroad at a low price."

What do the people of this protected community think of that utterance? What would be the result in East Liverpool if Bryan's views once became operative? The boy orator, inexperienced and unknown, declared himself on that day an enemy of the people. He arrayed himself on the side of those English magnates whom he pretends to hate with a bitter hatred. He declared at that time, although he feared to put it in as many words, that he favored the closing of every pottery in the land. He would have every potter deprived of employment, and compelled to leave the country of his birth or adoption for the low priced shops and factories of England. Bryan would depopulate such towns as this, cause their streets to grow up in weeds, and send their business men to some other part of the world. He does not believe in any form of protection. It has no merit in his view. Nothing good can come from the populous, enterprising communities created and supported by protection, according to his idea. The good wages paid under the McKinley law were to him an awful thing. Taken as a whole, the utterances of Mr. Bryan can produce no conclusion other than that he bears a strong dislike to protection and anything protected. Therefore, is there any excuse for the East Liverpool man who will support Bryan, and at once vote to take the bread from his own mouth?

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Better Prospects and Higher Prices This Fall.

BANK FAILURES RETARD BUSINESS

Prices Are Very Low—Corn and Oats Not Profitable to Sell—Wool Sales Increased—Iron Business Not Improving. Business Failures.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly Review of Trade, issued today, says: Better prospects and relief from monetary anxiety do not yet bring larger demands for finished products, though large buying of pig iron, wool, leather, hides, cotton and other materials continue to show a growing belief that a general upward movement in prices will come with the replenishment of dealers' stocks this fall. Most prices are extremely low, so that nothing more than ordinary demand would advance them.

Bank failures at New Orleans cause temporary hesitation, crop returns indicate disappointment in some cotton and some spring wheat states, prices of corn and oats make it unprofitable to sell at present, the number of manufacturing works and mines in operation does not gain, but rather decreases, reductions of wages are somewhat numerous, occasionally resisted by strikes, and all these conditions diminish for a time the buying power of the people. While many think general improvement cannot come until the election has removed political uncertainties, others expect soon to see the result anticipated in trade.

Weekly output of pig iron decreased 26,578 tons in August to 130,500 tons against 217,300 tons in November, a shrinkage of 40 per cent. Other works still have stopped since September began. Unsold stocks increased 62,067 tons in August, exclusive of those accumulating in the hands of great steel companies. Strictly not half the iron making or iron working capacity is now employed, and the demand for finished products does not grow, but heavy speculative purchases of pig, especially from southern works, have sustained prices.

The output of Connellsville coke was 65,997 tons weekly, against 166,000 Oct. 6 last year, and 5,640 ovens are at work against 13,511 then, with 10,000 workers now idle.

Sales of wool for the week have about equaled the normal consumption, for the first time in several months, not because manufacturers have more orders or are doing more work, for no gain is seen in the demand or output. The buying is still speculative, based on the belief that prices must advance.

Wheat declined 1 cent, but then advanced, closing 1 cent up for the week. Western receipts still exceed last year's, having been, in two weeks, 11,329,035 bushels, against 10,323,288 bushels last year, while Atlantic exports, flour included, have been, for the same weeks, 3,933,305 bushels, against 2,417,872 bushels last year.

Corn is almost wholly out of danger, and the yield is generally expected to be the largest, as the price here is the lowest ever known.

Failures for the week have been 315 in the United States, against 187 last year, and 47 in Canada, against 34 last year.

INSTRUCTS TURKISH LEGATION.

A Telegram Received in Regard to Sending Strangers Back Home.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Turkish legation has received from the sublime porte the following telegram:

"The imperial government, wishing to secure public order at Constantinople, has decided to send back to their native places all individuals with no occupation who come from the provinces. As these individuals, however, may attempt to return to the capital, the sublime porte has transmitted to the authorities of provinces express orders to increase their vigilance and to prevent said return. Besides commissioners, composed of delegates from the departments of war, interior and police, will be sent to the ports, where the individuals in question will be landed. These commissioners will have to supervise the workings of the police at these ports and to establish the identity of all persons arriving, as well as to examine their permits to travel. As it is possible that among the persons sent back to their native places, there are anarchists who there would try to commit crime and use bombs and dynamite. The imperial authorities were ordered to examine minutely all merchandise arriving at the ports as the provisions belonging to the drugstores and to take the signs of and class of people and to take all necessary measures tending to preserve the public peace and to counteract the seditious proceeding of the disturbers. The proper steps have also been taken to prevent the entering into the empire of all emissaries of the Armenian revolutionary committee established in Bulgaria and abroad."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The treasury has lost $60,000 in gold coin and $24,000 in bars, which leaves the true amount of the gold reserve $108,019,708.

THE NILE CAMPAIGN.

The British Have at Last Overcome the Many Difficulties.

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 12.—Dispatches just received from the front say that the North Staffordshire regiment, numbering about 900 men, has arrived at Koshcham, the southernmost fortified post on the Nile, and will be pushed forward to Absarrat. The third brigade has reached Absarrat safely and the main body of cavalry is arriving here.

The cavalry scouts report the Dervishers still in view south of Duglo, but the enemy retreats at the slightest sign of a forward movement. The Anglo-Egyptian scouts, feeling the way for the advance guard, are steadily pushing on to Kasher, 14 miles further south, which will be the next place occupied.

Duglo, hitherto held by a small force of cavalry, is being fortified and added to the string of depots connecting the expedition with Wady-Halfa, the real base of supplies.

Thus, the advance of the British-Egyptian expedition up the river Nile, with Dongola, if not Kartoum, as its objective point, is now in full swing, after months of struggling with terrific heat and cholera, during which the work of railroad building and passing gunboats in sections up the river and over the catamarans has been carried on incessantly under the direction of British officers, a number of whom have already given up their lives as a sacrifice to the task.

The operations began in March last when troops were hurried up the Nile to Wady-Halfa, the southernmost post, although the railroad ran to Sarraas, about 40 miles south from Wady-Halfa. Since that time the railroad, a desert campaign line, has been extended to Akasheh, 50 miles, from the latter place to Kosheh, and thence to Absarrat, about 75 miles.

In the first seven days of the campaign over 4,000 men in every way fully equipped, were moved southward, in spite of the great difficulties of transportation, and now some 15,000 men, not including natives employed in the transport service, are moving south with a flotilla of about 15 stern-wheel gunboats, some of them towing over 300 other boats and barges loaded with supplies, ammunition, etc.

This fleet will be kept in constant communication with Absarrat, now the base from which the army is operating. At every station between Absarrat and Wady-Halfa hospitals for the care of the wounded and sick have been established. The sirdar, or commander of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition, Sir Herbert H. Kitchener, has left nothing undone to promote the success of the campaign against the sultan of the Soudan, Abdullah El Tanisha, otherwise Abdullah El Khalifa, who claims to be the successor of the famous Mahdi, who caused the British so much trouble years ago.

The general upon whom the Khalifa relies to defeat the Anglo-Egyptian troops is the famous Osman Digna, a thoroughly tried and able warrior, who was the great Mahdi's trusted lieutenant and who was with the latter in all his campaigns. He has been almost constantly in the saddle for about 12 years and is a commander thoroughly respected by the British.

THE EASTERN ROADS NOW.

Tickets to the G. A. R. Encampment Still Causing Trouble.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The eastern roads are now having their share of trouble over the G. A. R. tickets, and it bids fair to be a more serious condition of affairs than any of the western roads have been compelled to meet. The offices of the brokers in this city are loaded down with the return portion of tickets from St. Paul and no pretense is made that all of them have been properly executed by the joint agent at St. Paul. The roads, some of them, are not moreover very particular as to whether the tickets have been properly executed, and are honoring them without asking questions when the tickets are presented for passage.

Besides the tickets the brokers have large quantities of the G. A. R. tickets that have never been near St. Paul, and the charge is openly made that they have been supplied direct by the agents of the roads. Charges and counter charges have been flying back and forth and there seems to be every chance of a big fuss over the matter before it is finally adjusted.

Western roads have at last agreed to make a reduced rate for congressional conventions during the present campaign. They have repeatedly refused to make a low rate for these conventions.

THE LITTLE TRAGEDY.

More Mysterious Every Day—Frantz Held Without Bail.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 12.—The case of Albert Frantz, charged with the betrayal and murder of Bessie Little, is developing into one of the most mysterious crimes on record. Chief of Police Ferrell has ascertained where and when Frantz bought the revolver that was used, and now he is hunting the weapon Frantz threw into Stillwater river with Bessie Little's body, so as to identify it as the one Frantz bought. Over Graham of Cincinnati has been at work here searching the bottom of the river where Frantz, in his own confession, threw the body from the bridge. Hundreds of people line the banks of the river and the excitement increases daily.

Meantime Frantz sticks to his original story that Bessie Little shot herself while they were out riding and in his fright he threw her body in the river. He confesses that he threw the revolver in the river and says it did not belong to him. If the weapon is found and identified by Ferrell's man then Frantz will have a complete chain of evidence against him. Frantz was arraigned, pleaded not guilty, and his case was continued without bail.

ANOTHER BANK CLOSES.

The Bank of Commerce of New Orleans Falls.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—The Bank of Commerce, which everybody thought would be able to weather the wave of distrust and suspicion which the recent wreck of the American National bank had caused, has been compelled to close its doors. President Nichols issued the following statement:

"The unprecedented run on the bank for the past six weeks and the impossibility of realizing with sufficient rapidity on the assets, and after consulting with the vice president, his own confession, threw the body from the bridge. Hundreds of people line the banks of the river and the excitement increases daily."

The bank owes depositors between $300,000 and $400,000, while the assets of the bank are about $800,000. The bank had quite a long list of small depositors.

TWO CASHIERS ARRESTED.

Men Who Handled Money in the Union Bank Under Suspicion.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—Frank B. Lee and Louis Colombe, bookkeepers in the Union National bank, have been arrested today by a United States deputy marshal. Colombe was taken into custody, as he was too sick to leave his home. He is under arrest, however, at his house. Lee was arraigned and held in $10,000 bonds for a hearing. His bond was immediately signed.

The charge is falsifying accounts. Two sets of books were kept. The arrests were made in order to hold the men pending a further investigation. The total defalcation so far discovered amounts to over $490,000.

THE TRADES' CONGRESS.

They Decide to Send Two Delegates to the United States.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 12.—At the session of the British Trades' union congress it was decided to send two delegates to the American labor congress, and it was also resolved that the British Trades' union congress meet in Birmingham in 1897.

A resolution was adopted expressing the opinion that the railway servants in the interest of themselves and of the traveling public should not be employed continuously for more than eight hours nor for more than 48 hours in any one week; also, that their conditions of hiring which compels them to give their whole time to the service of the company employing them without any guarantee of a week's wages, is inequitable and unjust.

Entitled to Wear Service in War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The secretary of war has announced a general order that the campaign against the Utes in Colorado and Utah, September, 1879, to November, 1880; against the Apaches in Arizona, 1885 to 1886, and against the Sioux in South Dakota, November, 1890, to January, 1891, were of sufficient magnitude to entitle enlisted men who served therein to wear the "service in war" chevrons.

Want Substitute Carriers.

GRAND RAPIDS, Sept. 12.—The letter carriers have elected their chairman to appoint a committee to visit the postmaster general in the interest of substitute carriers. The convention selected San Francisco as the convention city for 1897.

ANCIENT SALIC LAW.

IT PREVENTS WOMEN FROM BEING QUEENS IN SOME COUNTRIES.

No Other Law Has Caused So Much Bloodshed—Through This Code the Kingdom of Hanover Lost Its Independence and Was Absorbed by Prussia.

A relic of prehistoric barbarism, of times when women were regarded as soulless beings but one remove superior to the brute creation, is that Salic law which debar the fair sex from all rights of succession to most of the thrones of Europe. No one knows with any degree of certainty the origin of this law, although many theories and arguments have been advanced regarding it, yet there is no law that has been the cause of so much bloodshed and desolation throughout the last 800 years.

Nearly all the historic wars that have taken place in Europe since the days of the first crusade may be attributed to the existence of this law, and even in the present century sanguinary struggles have taken place on its account. Great Britain and Russia are the only two countries where it has never secured any foothold.

Spain, Portugal and Holland have within the last 100 years erased the law from their statute books, and have benefited by the change, while since the reign of Maria Theresa and the seven years' war it exists only in a modified form in Austria, and, perhaps, not at all in the kingdom of Hungary.

But it is still in force in Denmark, in Sweden, in Prussia and all the other federal states of the German empire, as well as in Belgium, Italy, Roumania, Serbia, Bulgaria and Greece, the national constitution of which, being of a more mushroom character and drawn up by enlightened statesmen of the present century, might reasonably be expected to be more up to date and free from such narrow medieval prejudices and doctrines.

It is precisely in the three countries which are now ruled by women—England, Holland and Spain—that the greatest degree of peace and prosperity prevails, the three royal widows displaying far more common sense, enlightened statesmanship and political sagacity than any of their brother monarchs.

Under the circumstances it must be a matter of regret that the Salic law should debar a number of beautiful, charming and clever princesses from succeeding to thrones. Thus there is the pretty Princess Pauline of Wurtemberg, the only child of the present king and a young girl whom it is no exaggeration to describe as the national idol.

Yet, notwithstanding the fact that all the affection of the people is centered in her, she is compelled by the Salic law to stand aside and to permit her father's crown to descend to a distant cousin, born and bred not in Wurtemberg, but in Austria, and who, in addition to being regarded as a foreigner, has the supreme disadvantage, in the eyes of the Lutherans and Protestants, constituting the vast majority of the nation, of being a Catholic.

Although King Oscar of Norway is one of the most enlightened and accomplished of men, endowed with a character that can only be described as unblemished, he has not proved a successful ruler.

The fact is that the king, in spite of all his talents and his perfections, moral and otherwise, is entirely wanting in that personal magnetism, and, if I may be permitted to coin the expression, that public tact which distinguished his homely, genial and by no means so intellectual brother, King Charles XV. The latter had only one daughter, Princess Louisa, who inherited his qualities, and who, in spite of her plainness, was just as much the idol of both the Norwegians and Swedes as Princess Pauline of Wurtemberg is at Stuttgart. Over six feet high, and far from being endowed with intellect above the average, she possesses the best temper in the world and an inexhaustible fund of merriment and good humor, and a heart as big as her laugh, which has been compared to that of a horse.

Had she been permitted to succeed her father as queen regent of Sweden and Norway it is doubtful whether the present conflict in the sister kingdom would ever have arrived at the acute stage, and certainly the loyalty to the throne on both sides of the border would not have reached its present low ebb. But, being debarred from her father's throne by the Salic law, she married the crown prince of Denmark, carrying out of the country of her birth all the vast wealth which she had inherited, partly from her father, and partly, too, from her Dutch granduncle, which is estimated at $5,000,000.

It is to the Salic law that the kingdom of Hanover is indebted for the loss of its independence and for its absorption by Prussia, with all the disadvantages which that entails, economic, political and social. Had Queen Victoria not been barred by this statute from succeeding to the throne of Hanover at the time when she ascended that of Great Britain there is no doubt that Hanover would have been enjoying at the present moment the same commercial prosperity and manifold advantages which have fallen to the lot of the English since the beginning of the Victorian era.

But instead the Salic law made necessary the separation of the crown of Hanover from that of England, and it passed in 1837, not to Victoria, but to the Duke of Cumberland. His very first act on succeeding to the throne was to repeal the grant of all the popular liberties conceded by his younger brother, the Duke of Cambridge, who had been acting as viceroy, and until 1836 Hanover, although free from the obligation of compulsory military service and unhampered by any Prussian restrictions upon trade, remained a hotbed of feudalism and one of the most retrograde states in Europe.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A MUSICAL NUISANCE.

John Leech Was Literally Driven to Death by Organ Grinders.

Look at the case of John Leech, which may be taken as typical. When Leech got into his Dutch house at Kensington, he thought he had settled down to an existence of unalloyed happiness. But the house had one terrible defect, soon to be discovered. It stood where it was encircled by streets and mews infested by organ grinders. The nuisance was insufferable and yet incurable, and worse for Leech from his studio being at the top of the house, where the sound from five or six instruments was heard, all playing different tunes at the same time. When a timid messenger was sent out, some truculent offenders were unfindable—hidden deep in stable yards—and others were so far away for all but noise that it seemed unreasonable to require their removal. This horrible torment, which went on then, as it does now, from early morning till late at night, was practically the cause of Leech's death.

When Mr. Holman Hunt returned to town, after an absence for a time, he found him leaning upon a stick, like an invalid. There was the man of spirit and inflexibility, but he stood as if the foundations had been loosened. "Yes," he said, with grievous candor, "I am a doomed man. Nothing will save me except as an invalid, and I will tell you, in all sober and solemn earnestness, what has killed me. It would be laughed at as absurd by many, but it is the naked truth, which you will understand (although the men in parliament who talk so glibly about their delight at seeing the poor amused in back streets would not do so), it has been the incessant vexation of organ grinding and the need of doing my work while the wretched instruments of torture were, from different points, turning out their discordant notes into my brain." This declaration from his lips had, perhaps in its precise sense, been inspired by some recent annoyance of a special kind, but in its larger bearings it could not be doubted. Heavily burdened and sore, like the galled jade, Leech had been driven to death.—Nineteenth Century.

DOGGING PORCUPINES.

A Chase by Moonlight in South Africa. Something Like a Coon Hunt.

In the Adirondacks, in Maine or in Canada, wherever the American porcupine is found, it is not sought by hunters as a game beast, although hunters seldom fail to kill porcupines at every opportunity because of the damage they do to dogs. On the other hand, from Boover Vlei, near Wellington, Cape Colony, South Africa, Walter H. Gerard writes to the London Field to tell how he hunted the porcupine with dogs, after the fashion of coon hunters, by moonlight.

The party included a parson and a magistrate, a banker and a landowner. The dogs trailed a porcupine, came up with it, and bit it. The foolish dogs bit the quills, but the smart ones seized the nose. When the quills had been removed from the foolish dogs' noses, the hunt went on. The next head of game sighted was a huge pig, which was chased until it took to a burrow. Another porcupine was soon after sighted. This porcupine was a large female, and led the hunters a regular coon chase before she died. The hunters were then seven miles from home, and it was 1:30 a. m., and the branches were thick with dew that trickled down their necks and soaked them from shoe leather to head covering. But after awhile they got home and sat down to a mess of savory satiates of Malay concoctions.

The porcupine hunters didn't know American coons, but the coon hunter would enjoy a South African porcupine hunt by moonlight with a pack of ungainly mongrels, and the porcupine hunters would appreciate a harvest moon coon hunt.

Lang and Crockett.

A writer in The Saturday Review describes Mr. Andrew Lang as "this master of apt, entertaining allusion, knowledge, extensive reading—chopped fine, perhaps, but certainly not digested—a kind of lawyer's knowledge of literary precedent, and nothing further, save only more knowledge and still more knowledge." In the same article Mr. R. R. Crockett is spoken of as "creature of shreds and patches, who ranks with Stevenson in the minds of the academic school."

THE PRODUCTION OF PLAYS WITHOUT THE PRINCIPAL CHARACTER.

Shakespeare's Play Was Never So Given, but Other Plays Have Been—John Brougham's Story of the Absence of Pocahontas and How the Play Was Put On.

It was Sir Walter Scott who furnished the base for the proverbial expression, "Hamlet with Hamlet left out." In the introduction to his "Talisman" he wrote about a "playbill which is said to have announced the tragedy of 'Hamlet,' the character of the Prince of Denmark being left out." As in the case of most modern proverbs, the finished product differs in form from the raw material.

There is no record that "Hamlet" ever was acted with the character of the Prince of Denmark left out, though the play has been acted in almost every other way. In 1881, in London, the version of the first quarto, which was printed in 1603, was acted by amateurs. They followed the customs of the theater of Queen Bess' time, using no scenery or decorations, and the actors were garbed as Raleigh and his friends were about the same time, too, Edwin Booth and his company arrived at Hartford minus their trunks and gave three acts of the play in their traveling costumes. Probably, however, the effect was not vastly different from Booth's ordinary production of the tragedy.

Then the Count Joannes and James Owen O'Connor acted the part of Hamlet with two readers, man and woman, to take the other parts; and Bellow—Kyrle Bellow's father—read the play at a desk in front of the proscenium, while the actors moved about the stage with appropriate gestures and said no words. But most nearly approaching to Scott's omitted Prince of Denmark must have been the performances where women played Hamlet; Charlotte Cushman, Miss Marriott (who made a famous prince), Adele Belgrade, Anna Dickinson, and a round dozen of others tried the part.

But if "Hamlet" has not been played without the prince, other plays have been on occasion.

In the last century there was a Hannah Brand, a schoolteacher. She thought she could write a play, and so worked on John Kemble until he produced during the season of 1791-2 her five act tragedy "Huniades," based on Hungarian history. Kemble played Huniades; Miss Brand played Agnunda, the heroine. The play failed; and then Hannah Brand left out Kemble's part and produced the rest of the play under the name "Agnunda." As before, she played the heroine, and as before she heard the play hissed and damned beyond redemption.

John Brougham, however, really played a play with one of the principal characters left out, though, as he says, "it was a frightfully dangerous experiment."

The play was his famous burlesque "Pocahontas," produced at Wallack's, then on Broadway, near Broome street, in 1856. Brougham played Powhatan, Charles W. Loe, Captain Smith; Miss Hodson, Pocahontas; Peters, the Dutchman; and the play worked its way up in the public estimation. Let Brougham tell of his feat:

"One evening Mr. Lester Wallack came into the dressing room where Walcott and myself were preparing for the performance, with the announcement that Pocahontas was missing and could not be found anywhere in the city."

"What was to be done under the circumstances we couldn't conceive. All sorts of plans were projected, but none would work. At last, in desperation, I said to Walcott, 'Suppose we do it without Pocahontas!'"

"Agreed," said Charley, who was always bright, quick and witty. 'We'll do it anyhow!'"

"Mr. Wallack went on the stage and announced that, 'owing to the absence of Miss Hodson' (the truth was she had eloped with somebody), 'the play would be produced without her, Messrs. Walcott and Brougham having kindly consented to fill her part.'

"For a moment dead silence reigned, but directly the fun of the thing was taken in, and the people fairly screamed. We went on. First Charley would say, 'This is what Miss Pocahontas would remark if she were present,' and then he would talk to himself. 'Where is Pokey?' he would exclaim, to which I would reply: 'Lost among the icebergs of Broadway. But if she were here I know she would answer you in this way,' and then I would give her speech."

"At the end, when it became necessary to join their hands in matrimony, we didn't know exactly what to do, but, looking around the stage, I saw a broom, and, seizing it, I boldly advanced to the front, saying, as I handed it to Charley, 'Take her, my boy, and be happy.' It brought the house down, but it was a frightfully dangerous experiment."

The audience the next night wanted Pocahontas left out again, but Brougham wouldn't have it so. Hamlet may be left out once, on the spur of the moment, but not a second time, and never when the man who makes the ghost walk has time to put even a gravedigger in the prince's place. The history of the stage seems to prove that Scott's playbill was not actual, but like his quotations from "Old Plays," merely produced for the occasion from his wonderful imagination.—New York Sun.

Is there any reason for dodging and ignoring a great and vital fact simply because a few prejudiced, misguided people have antiquated ideas of what constitutes morality and modesty? Reason and honesty say—certainly not. Men and women are attracted to each other because they are men and women and because it is right and necessary that they should be so attracted. The things that make a man attractive are the whole characteristics caused by his inherent manliness—by the strength which makes him a perfect man. The same is true of woman. There is strong attractiveness in perfect health. There is fascination and magnetism in it. A woman cannot be entirely womanly—she cannot be a perfect woman—if she is not in perfect health. In just so much as her sickness affects the organs that make her a woman, in just so much she loses attractiveness. This is the vital part of her health. If anything is wrong there, it may result in all manner of ills all over the body. Careless, or too busy, physicians frequently treat the symptoms of this kind of disorder as separate and distinct ailments. The symptoms are many and varied, so much so that when a woman is sick in any way, the first thought should be given to the organs distinctly feminine. About 9 times in 10 the cause of the trouble will be found there. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all disorders of this kind. There is no guesswork about it. There is no chance about it. It is a fact that has been demonstrated in 30 solid years of extensive practice.

Thousands of women have written grateful letters, who have wished to know the wonderful things the "Prescription" has done for them.
